AMERICAN LEGION ORGANIZED TO INSURE PREPAREDNESS FOR WAR

Two Priceless Military Assets Are Discovered

FORMATION OF FIRST RESERVES ANNOUNCED BY CAPT. JOHNSON

Aid-de-Camp to Major General Wood, Commanding Army of East, Heads Movement in Unofficial Way, and Plans to Establish First List of 300,000 Former Militiamen.

MANY PUBLIC MEN APPROVE THE PROPOSAL

Former President Roosevelt Writes Letter to Originators, Saying in Event of Conflict He Will Ask Congress for Permission to Raise Division of Cavalry. Oppose Militarism.

New York, Feb. 28.—Formal announcement was made here to-night of the formation of an organization of first reserves to be known as the American legion, to be composed of former army, navy and militia men, which will better insure the nation's preparedness in case of war.

Captain Gordon Johnston, aid-de-camp to Major General Leonard Wood, commanding the department of the east, made the announcement on behalf of a group of army and navy men who in an unofficial capacity are acting with civilians in promoting the movement.

Captain Johnston said that it is planned to establish within a short time a first reserve of between 250,000 and 300,000 former army and naval militiamen for instant call in case of emergency.

Major General Wood already has given the plan his unofficial endorsement and former President Roosevelt has written a letter approving the proposal. Numerous other public men have endorsed the project and statement by the promoters says that former secretaries of war and of the navy have indicated their willingness to act in an advisory capacity.

Asserting that he and his four sons will become members of the legion, Colonel Roosevelt in letter to the organizers says that in the event of war he intends to ask congress for permission to raise a division of cavalry. Mr. Roosevelt's letter continues:

"I very earnestly hope and pray that there will be no war; but the surest way to avert war is to be prepared for it, and the only way to avert disaster and disgrace in war is by preparation, both military and naval, in advance."

"We should as a nation have begun to prepare ourselves the minute this war broke out seven months ago. It is absolutely impossible to be sure, when there is such a tremendous war, that we shall not be drawn into it against our will. The people of this country are only beginning to realize the extent of our military and naval unpreparedness."

Colonel Roosevelt says he will gladly serve as chairman of the legion's board of honorary advisers and hopes that the legion will accomplish its purpose in organizing a first reserve for, he says:

"It is idle for us to trust to arbitration and neutrality treaties un-backed by force. Let us act justly toward others and let us also be prepared with stout heart and strong hand to defend our rights against injustice from others."

In a formal statement of the aims and objects of the legion given out tonight by Captain Johnson and his associates, it is said that the legion now being incorporated under the laws of New York state, plan to enroll in its membership first all men who have had army and naval training and are therefore equipped for instant service. But the legion seeks to enroll patriotic citizens generally, especially those who have been unable to serve in the army, navy or militia in time of peace, but whose special qualifications make them immediately valuable.

Declaring that the organizers of the legion do not believe in militarism but want the country to be prepared for any emergency, the statement says:

"No one can be sure this country will not be dragged into war. Therefore, it is only common sense to provide against the ugly possibility. A man may be pretty sure his house will not burn, but he insures just the same."

"Those who still believe we are prepared for war cannot be convinced by argument since they have not been convinced by cold facts recently made public. The rest of us who do accept the cold facts must act without their help."

"We don't believe in militarism. But we do believe in being able to defend ourselves if we are attacked. There is a vast difference."

"We propose to have later settlement by the American people even of the conservative suggestions of a somewhat developed militia of a mild course of military instruction in the schools. We plan for only the immediate and crying need. And the movement we advocate involves no military training or service in time of peace, no increase in our standing army, navy or militia; no national expenditure—nothing but the intelligent use of already existing material already on hand."

Captain Johnson in supplementing the formal statement said that while the legion was being organized independent of the army and navy and would have no official connection with either, it would be organized along the lines of the geographical division of the army. The government, he said, keeps no record of the men who would leave the army and navy. He estimated that there are about from 250,000 to 300,000 such men scattered throughout the country who within a short period can be enrolled.

"It is planned to have two active branches of the legion," Captain Johnson said. "The line will be composed exclusively of men who have had army and navy service or no can handle a high power rifle and are seasoned in the fundamental of soldiering. Taking care of themselves, roughing it in the open—combination of regulars and 'Rough Riders.'

Fresno reports that the Chinese tonight have announced that a fine of $500 would be levied upon any member who patronizes a Japanese store.

Yasutaro Numano, Japanese consul general here, denied tonight a report that he had called a meeting of Japanese for the purpose of discussing the boycott. He intimated, however, that his countrymen might retaliate by instituting a boycott against Chinese merchants.

Chinese Killed by Yaquis.

On Board U. S. S. San Diego, San Diego, Cal., Feb. 28.—The ex-boat Ante-napoli at Guaymas reported to Rear Admiral Moore B. Howard on the San Diego today that Jean Cameron, an American employed as a lineman on the Mexican branch of the Southern Pacific railway, was killed last Friday at Lencio, Sonora, by Yaqui Indians. No details were given.

The Indians in that region have become a menace to lives and property. The old federal government held them in strict abomination, forbidding them to have fire arms. When the constitutionalists came into control they armed the Indians and tried to make them allies, but the Yaquis could not be controlled.

On February 12 two Americans were robbed by Indians near the place where Cameron was killed.

Loss of Zeppelin.

Geneva, Switzerland, Feb. 28.—Via Paris.—Reports received here apparently confirm the loss in the Adriatic sea of one of the smaller type of Zeppelins with its crew, which was sent from Friedrichshafen to Pola, the Austrian naval base, early in February.

Work is said to be continuing day and night at the Zeppelin base at Friedrichshafen on airships intended to replace four which recently were lost because of accidents. Some difficulty is being experienced in finding capable pilots.

Collins for Mayor.

Dallas, Feb. 28.—James J. Collins, former city attorney under the present city commission, has been nominated by the independents of Dallas as their candidate for mayor to oppose the citizens' association. At a meeting Monday night, other candidates will be nominated. Politics are warming up. The election will be held the first Tuesday in April.

Ask Your Dealer for Articles by Manufacturers' or Trade-Mark Names : : :

The market is flooded with imitations and "just as goods," and for your own protection it is important that you should always ask for products by manufacturers' or trade mark names.

Every time you buy a "just as good" you encourage the sale of imitation products. There is only one way to break up the substitution evil and you do your part every time you refuse to buy "just as goods."

There is absolutely no logical reason why you should buy "just as goods," because there are plenty of honest dealers who will give you what you ask for.

It is your duty to encourage honest dealers.

In speaking of substitution a well known dealer said: "Substitution does not exist in my store. I don't care how much more I can make on a substituted article, if it is not what the customer asks for, I will make no effort to persuade him to take it. And what is more, any article placed on the market as a substitute for a well known brand is marked so, and the attention of the customer is called to it."

This is the type of dealer who deserves your patronage. Some day ALL dealers will adopt this way of conducting business.

DAVID LLOYD GEORGE RUSSIAN OFFENSIVE ON POSITION OF U.S.

CHANCELLOR OF EXCHEQUER IN SPEECH SAYS AMERICA CANNOT PROTECT.

GERMANY AS THE DICTATOR

If She Wins War, He Declares, Refers to Invading Nation as Powerful Machine.

RUSSIAN OFFENSIVE ON WHOLE FRONT

INDICATIONS ARE THAT STRONG REINFORCEMENTS HAVE ARRIVED.

GERMAN ADVANCE CHECKED

Tide Is Turned in North Poland, Say Reports, and Opponents Are in Retreat.

Bangor, Wales, via London, Feb. 28.—The chancellor of the exchequer, David Lloyd-George, made a pointed reference to the United States in a speech here today.

"If Germany is triumphant over this country," he said, "she would be practically dictator of the world. And where," he asked, "could we then look to a chivalrous country to protect us—

"If countries like France and Russia, with huge armies, and we, with the most powerful navy in the world, could not face this terrible machine, how could America step in? It would be more than America could do to defend her interests in her own continent. America is more unready than we are."

The chancellor then took up the humor and industrial questions.

"The government has wide powers to deal with the drink question and it means to use them," declared the chancellor.

He said a small minority of the workmen employed in the armament factories had refused to work a full week because of the lure of drink.

The government would use its powers discreetly and in a spirit of moderation, Mr. Lloyd-George asserted.

With Russia it would seem to be a case of keeping up the supply of ammunition, which the opening of the Dardanelles would greatly assist.

The attempt to force the straits by the allied fleet is indeed of momentous importance to the allies. The opening of the straits would release the Russian grain which the allies want and would give to Russia what she herself cannot produce, while it would be certain to have a marked effect on the future policy of the Balkan states.

The allies, however, do not expect that their success in the Dardanelles undertaking will be immediate, for they are now facing the hardest part of the problem, having the strongest forts ahead.

"This war," he said, "is to be won or lost by the engineers. We need men, but we need arms more than men, and every day of delay is full of peril to the country. For one reason or another we do not get the assistance we have the right to expect from our workshops. Industrial differences are inevitable, but we can not afford them now."

It is intolerable that the lives of Britons should be imperiled for the sake of a farthing an hour. During the war governments should have the power of settling differences so that work shall go on if men are satisfied with the money, the government should give it. I do not believe the parties involved will refuse to comply with the urgent command of the government that there should be no strike.

The fact that the Queen Elizabeth is in commission suggests that her four sister ships, all of which were laid down within a few weeks of each other, are either in the fighting line or ready to join it.

"This war," he said, "is to be won or lost by the engineers. We need men, but we need arms more than men, and every day of delay is full of peril to the country. For one reason or another we do not get the assistance we have the right to expect from our workshops. Industrial differences are inevitable, but we can not afford them now."

Expressing confidence in the outcome of the war, the chancellor said the people of the country hardly realized yet the importance of the struggle in which they were engaged and warned them that victory could not be won without a long struggle. He declared that while England had gathered the largest volunteer army ever gathered in any country or in any century, it ought to be larger still.

The Belgian army, re-organized and re-equipped, has again been taking part in the fight for the recovery of its country, and according to the French report has advanced across the Yser and taken a farm from the Germans, while its artillery has demolished two German works.

Otherwise the battles in the west are still confined to the Champagne and the Vosges, where both sides claim to have been successful.

The labor situation and the government's demand that work be resumed on the Clyde tomorrow is creating a lot of interest in England. The Clyde workmen will hold a series of meetings in Glasgow tomorrow, so it is not likely that they will return to work until Tuesday at least, but that they then will obey the government's order is almost certain, as all their leaders urge them to do. Should they disobey the order, the government can declare martial law.

David Lloyd George, chancellor of the exchequer, today intimated that as a small minority of the employees of the armament works were not working full time owing to the lure of drink, the government was considering measures to control further the sale of intoxicants.

He did not explain what the new regulations would be, but it is thought they will not go further than shortening the hours during which the saloons may remain open.

The capture of the American steamer Dacia, formerly sailing under the German flag, by the French, is welcomed here, as it will enable a French prize court to decide her case, while an English court will deal with the cargo of the American steamer Wilhelmina. Thus the responsibility for stopping goods in neutral bottoms bound for Germany will be borne equally by the two allies.

On February 28, on a line from Trans-Choruk our troops progressed with success, dislodging the Turkish forces from their positions.

"In the passes south of Alacherte our troops in an engagement seized two Turkish artillery pieces."

Several towns have already entered bids.

Temple Makes Ready for Spring Training

Temple, Feb. 28.—With the reporting for duty of Manager Luther Burleson of the Temple team of the Mid-Dixie Texas League on March 1, the baseball season of 1915 is formally scheduled to open in Temple and much activity will be taken on. Burleson has an even two dozen recruits from which to choose, and will give them all an impartial trial. Last season the reserve list included Dennis and Eagan, pitchers; McConnell, catcher; Edmonds, infield, and F. Allison, catcher and utility player. Among the new men there is an abundance of hurling talent which includes Flowers of last year's Italy team, the Angel brothers, Jim and Frank, of Oklahoma; Winter, a colored boy; Wiley, a Cleburne semi-pro, and Bassler, last year's mainstay of T. C. U. In the receiving department Oshorne, formerly of Hillsboro, and Grafeth, a Cisco boy, are to be given opportunities to make good. Newcomers in the infield will be West, Johnson, Crosby, Russell, Robinson, Leslie, and McCowan. From among this material Burleson hopes to build up a stone wall. The outer gardens will be protected by Daraby, one time Dallas leaguer; Scroggins, late of Belton; McCombs and Manager Burleson. It is the intention of the latter to don a uniform and take active part in all baseball work.

For the first time, eight or ten additional promising youngsters on his list who are clamoring for a chance to make good and will afford several of the mite opportunity. All teams in the league with the exception of Taylor report progress and a readiness to begin the season. The mudcat at Taylor is expected to be cleared up within the present week. Bartlett has signed the veteran Key Pendleton as manager and he has collected a number of promising youngsters. Belton, Brenham and Austin are also active and are getting strong aggregations together.

EVEN CROSS, SICK CHILDREN LOVE SYRUP OF FIGS

FEVERISH, BILIOUS, CONSTIPATED, GIVE FRUIT LAXATIVE AT ONCE.

Don't scold your fretful, peevish child. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with sour waste.

When listless, pale, feverish cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomachache, indigestion, diarrhea, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs" and in a few hours all the foul waste, the sour bile and the fermenting food passes out of the bowels and you have a well and playful child again. Children love this harmless fruit laxative and mothers can rest easy after giving it, because it never fails to make their little "inside" clean and sweet.

Keep it handy, Mother. A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Remember there are counterfeits sold here, so surely look and see that yours is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup.

German Army Says Attacks Repulsed

Berlie, Feb. 28.—By Wireless to Sayville, L. I.—The following official communication from German army headquarters was made public today:

"In Champagne yesterday the enemy continued his attacks, which were completely repulsed."

"South of Malincourt (which lies to the west of Verdun and north of Verdun), the Germans started several enemy positions behind each other. A weak French counter attack failed. The Germans took as prisoners six officers and 250 men and also captured four machine guns and one mine thrower."

"On the western side of the Vosges

the Germans after violent fighting dislodged the French from their positions near Blamont and Bionville.

"In an attack on the entrenched line of Verdenal-Brennen, east of Badonviller the Germans pushed back the enemy over a front 20 kilometres (about 13 miles) long for a distance of six kilometres (about four miles). The enemy's attempt to win back the conquered ground failed with heavy losses."

"The enemy's advance in the southern Vosges also were repulsed. "Northwest of Grodno new Russian forces advanced yesterday, but German counter attacks threw back the Russians onto the advanced position of the fortress. We took 1,800 prisoners there."

"Northwest of Ostrolenko an enemy attack was repulsed."

"The German troops retreated before the enemy forces, advancing on Prasnye from the south and east into the region north and west of this town."

"South of the Vistula there have been no developments of importance."

Rain at Mart.

Mart, Feb. 28.—A heavy rain fell here Friday and Friday night which put a stop to the former plowing and any further work for about a week or ten days. A brisk norther struck here during the night and much concern is felt over a possible freeze, which would kill the fruit trees that have budded during the continued warm weather.

The local basketball teams returned from Mexia today, where they played two games of basketball Friday night, being victors in both. The teams went over Friday in cars and started back yesterday, but on account of the muddy roads they left the cars at Groesbeck and took the train home, arriving at noon today.

DEPORTED PRIESTS SAIL ON MONTEVIDEO CONGRESS SESSION DRAWING NEAR CLOSE

FOREIGNERS PUT DOWN AS UNDESIRABLES FORCED TO LEAVE MEXICO.

BOTH HOUSES COMPELLED TO SIT CONTINUOUSLY UNTIL NEXT THURSDAY.

NO SIGN OF CLEMENCY BILLION DOLLARS IN BILLS

Carranza and Official Family Remain Inflexible and Determine to Punish.

Conference Reports of Great Supply of Measures Will Be Considered.

Vera Cruz, Feb. 28.—When the Montevideo, a Spanish liner, sails from here tomorrow there will go on her as deported undesirable foreigners thirteen priests, almost all Spanish. They were sent here from Mexico City where practically all the native Catholic clergy are held in prison. Obregon had them arrested because of their failure to deliver a half million pesos. Unless Carranza yields to the supplications of the American state department they will remain in jail until they produce the amount of money demanded. So far Carranza has shown no sign of clemency and in Mexico City the bitterness engendered between clericals and anti-clericals already has resulted in a series of demonstrations in which the military has been used to restore order. Four men have been killed and many wounded.

Carranza and his official family remain inflexible in their determination to punish the people of the abandoned capital and to make them pay the price for their fickleness in receiving Villa and Zapata with open arms. Within the past seven days Obregon has undertaken to collect several million pesos, alleging that it is to be used in ameliorating the conditions of the starving poor. To date he has not succeeded in securing it from the clergy, therefore insisting that they themselves did not have that amount in cash and Obregon refusing their offer to collect it from the Catholics at large. His next move was to notify all merchants that they must contribute ten per cent of all staples for Carranza within three days. This was for his army and let them who had to pay upon the bankers for 5,000,000 pesos. The bankers displayed such reluctance that he informed them at a meeting attended by representatives of all banking houses except a few foreign concerns that the levy would be spread over all business concerns, foreign concerns not excepted, but that the amount which must be paid would be 10,000,000 pesos of 5,000,000. Three days was given as the limit.

The most serious demonstration growing out of the arrest of the priests in Mexico City was that Sunday. Only two churches were open. Little crowds of Catholics gathered in various parts of the city and in the downtown district, one such leader being the others, and made up largely of women, who began parading. This crowd was met by a counter element crying "Down with the church" and "muertas" for the priests. Colonel Bertrand elbowed his way into the struggling lot of people and was stabbed, but retaliated by shooting and killing two men in the Catholic contingent, one of whom had been called out fired, wounding a number. Only four dead bodies were accounted for. Unconfirmed reports reaching here today are that more rioting is now in progress.

Less likelihood that Carranza will order the evacuation of Mexico City now exists and the continued shipping into the city of foodstuffs tends to support this view. Obregon will hold his army there for some time. He is yet engaged in an almost daily struggle with the Zapatistas who infest the environs, forcing the line of fire some days to the very edge of the city.

Carranza has a wider field from which to draw his material for worries, however. Money is not yet in his pocket and there is no income from Tampico has been defeated. To the south his difficulties in Yucatan are yet unsettled and there is gossip here that the Yucatans are determined to take advantage of the present conditions to secede from Mexico and re-establish their own government. The port of Progreso on the coast of Yucatan, which the constitutionalist consul in Havana refused to issue clearance papers is at least partly open. Carranza having assured John Silliman, the consul's confidential agent, that the consul would be instructed to clear the Morro Castle of the Ward line, now at Havana, for Progreso. This is taken to mean that clearances for other vessels will be issued also.

Vigorous educational campaigns have been conducted in Ellis, Harris, Cherokee, Gregg, Nacogdoches, Bexar and other counties. As a result, literally thousands of farmers and laborers enrolled themselves in the movement, making an almost daily struggle with the school authorities to conform to the requirements and giving the most reliable information as to methods of growing large crops at lowest cost, and will have the opportunity also of receiving the large cash prizes offered for record yields in the various classes.

Late in February a campaign, typical of those conducted in other countries, was carried through Beaufort, South Carolina, by the chamber of commerce, the county demonstration agent, the county superintendent of schools, the city superintendent of schools, the head of the mothers' club of the city and several organizations of women have given active assistance to H. R. Herndon, who has been the special representative in charge of this work.

Numerous contestants have been secured in the county in the farm crop contests in San Antonio a large number have entered the contest and agreed to grow home gardens and gardens on vacant lots.

Campaigns in Nacogdoches and Gregg counties have been in progress during the past week, and congress officials are in correspondence with reference to putting on a campaign in a number of other counties. The congress is anxious to reach as many counties as possible and is prepared to undertake the work with the cooperation of local persons and organizations, such as county demonstrators, county superintendents, commercial clubs and associations, is asured.

Perhaps the most thoroughgoing campaign of the kind ever undertaken is being carried out in Dallas this week, where the congress is being assisted in its school and community work by Prof. C. H. Winkler of the faculty of the University of Texas, by Paul Wipprecht of the state department of agriculture, by M. L. Hays, professor of agricultural education of the A. & M. College and by Prof. N. M. McGinnis of the College of Industrial Arts.

Superintendent J. K. Knobell of the city schools, assisting the movement in Dallas, is a representative of a number of the women's organizations.

Support will also be received from a number of individuals and business concerns of the city. In a like campaign some time ago in Harris county and Houston, more than three thousand entered the contests, agreeing to grow something for home consumption, and officers of the congress have received such assurances of support in Dallas that they are hopeful that results secured here will equal if not surpass those in Houston.

Shamrock, Mo.—"I feel it my duty to tell the public the condition of my health before using your medicine. I had falling, inflammation and congestion, female weakness, pains in both sides, backaches and bearing down pains, was short of memory, nervous, impatient, passed sleepless nights, and had neither strength nor energy. There was always fear and dread in my mind, I had cold, nervous, weak spells, hot flashes over my body. I had a place in my right side that was so sore that I could hardly bear the weight of my clothes. I tried medicines and doctors, but they did me little good, and I never expected to get out again.

I got Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier, and I certainly would have been in grave or in an asylum if your medicines had not saved me. But now I can work all day, sleep well at night, eat anything I want, have no hot flashes or weak, nervous spells.

All pains, aches, fears and dreads are gone, my house, children and husband are no longer neglected, as I am almost entirely free of the bad symptoms I had before taking your remedies, and all is pleasure and happiness in my home." —

Counterfeits.

Read what one of the GREATEST NEWSPAPERS IN AMERICA has to say on this subject:

"The manufacturers of Castoria have been compelled to spend hundreds of thousands of dollars to familiarize the public with the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. This has been necessitated by reason of pirates counterfeiting the Castoria trademark. This counterfeiting is a crime not only against the proprietors of Castoria, but against the growing generation. All persons should be careful to see that Castoria bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher, if they would guard the health of their children. Parents, and mothers in particular, ought to carefully examine the Castoria advertisements which have been appearing in this paper, and to remember that the wrapper of every bottle of genuine Castoria bears the fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher, under whose supervision it has been manufactured continuously for over thirty years.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Letters from Prominent Druggists addressed to Chas. H. Fletcher.

Conger Bros. of St. Paul, Minn., say: "Fletcher's Castoria is certainly full of merit and worthy of recommendation."

C. G. A. Loder, of Philadelphia, Pa., says: "For 20 years we have sold Fletcher's Castoria and are pleased to state that it has given universal satisfaction."

The Scholtz Drug Co., of Denver, Colo., says: "Fletcher's Castoria has surely become a household word. Seemingly every family where there are children uses it."

Hoagland & Mansfield, of Boston, Mass., say: "We have nothing but good to say about your Castoria and we do not hesitate to give it our unqualified endorsement."

Riker's Drug Stores, of New York City, say: "Fletcher's Castoria is one of the oldest and most popular preparations in our stores. We have nothing but good to say about it."

Wolf-Wilson Drug Co., of St. Louis, Mo., says: "Of the thousands of patent medicines for which we have demand there are a very few of them that we can conscientiously recommend and your Castoria is included in this few."

D. R. Dyche & Co., of Chicago, Ills., say: "The increasing demand for your Castoria shows that a discriminating public is not slow to seek out a remedy of merit and once convinced that it does all and even more than claimed they do not hesitate to recommend it to their friends."

COLORADO'S COUNTRY EDUCATION

"While city children enjoy the best that money can buy, country children must be content with the ragged edges of our public school system," asserts G. C. Sargent, of the Colorado Agricultural College, in a report on the Colorado rural schools, received by the United States bureau of education.

Professor Sargent, who investigated the smaller country school districts in Colorado—there are 1,725 such districts with less than 350 children of school age—is led to the conclusion that "the district system has something fundamentally wrong about it."

One county was found that had 107 independent districts, consisting of 321 directors, with supervision over 7,522 children, a director for every 20 children. One district did not for seven years report a child, yet "kept its independent organization, elected its school board each year, levied no taxes and spent no money for education." In one county were found a three- and a two-teacher school just one mile apart on a level road "with the only impassable barrier between them," Mr. Sargent declares, "an imaginary line forming district boundaries. Furthermore, the teachers pass each other twice a day in going to and from their schools." In another section of the state "a four-mile radius will include all of the habitable posts of seven separate independent school districts, having a total of 500 children of school age, 12 teachers and property with an assessable value of over $1,000,000."

Of the 1,725 school districts of the state having not over 350 children, the average school census for the past eight years was 82,174, while the average enrollment was only 64,385, or 78 per cent of the census.

"While Colorado has compulsory attendance laws," says the bulletin, "17,789 boys and girls of school age in the rural sections of the state were not in attendance during each of the eight years, from 1906 to 1913." Bureau of education officials point out, however, that "school age" includes all children from 6 to 21 years of age, an unusually high standard of measurement for any system of schools.

Of the 64,385 pupils enrolled in the 1,725 districts, "the daily attendance of those who did enroll," continues the bulletin, "makes a far worse showing than the enrollment itself." The eight-year average for the 1,725 districts was only 61 per cent of the total enrollment. The per cent was in some instances as low as 51.

The bulletin discovers that 84 per cent of the teachers of these rural schools are women, and concludes that for schools of this class, at least, "education has nearly ceased to be a man's job." The average salary was found to be about $60 a month.

Rural school experts in the bureau of education consider the Colorado situation better than in many of the states. It is felt that careful investigations, like that just made in Colorado, will do much to make educational opportunities in the country equal to those in the city.

Remarks the Atchison Globe: "Children are taught to be kind to dumb brutes, and something should be said about imposing on father." Who's teaching the children these days, anyway? We have an idea if father would assert his prerogative of a teacher in the home, as he certainly ought to do, he could prevent that imposition upon himself. In fact, we believe he has been imposing too much of the family burdens on mother, of late years, and is now reaping some of the fruits of his negligence.

The woman who is telling in one of the leading magazines how to bring a large appetite and a small income together is a "manager." We believe she could make good at satisfying two appetites on one income.

CREDIT FOR FARMERS.

The efforts of congressional leaders to engraft a rural credit law on the agricultural appropriation bill in the form of a rider does credit to their knowledge of the needs of their constituents. It is almost too much to hope that a satisfactory law can be framed in the hurry of the closing days of this session of congress, but that such legislation is imperatively demanded by conditions in the rural districts is known of all men who have studied these conditions.

The farmers of this country, and especially of the South, are paying interest rates for credit that would bankrupt any legitimate business in the country except farming, and that is far from being prosperous. Ambitious young men are leaving the farm, tenancy is rapidly increasing and discontent is growing to dangerous proportions.

Through the federal reserve banks the government has placed a supply of capital at the command of urban business, but rural business must continue to pay high rates of interest for a scant supply of credit. The farmer who buys an improved farm in a good neighborhood and pays eight per cent interest on deferred payments finds that he is paying nearly if not quite as much interest as he formerly paid rent, and thus while he becomes a home owner in name, he remains a tenant in reality, and with an added burden in the form of taxes and upkeep of property.

While congressional leaders are splitting hairs over details of rural credit legislation state leaders appear to have forgotten that state legislatures as well as the federal congress owe a duty to the great producing classes, the creators of all our primary wealth.

Even Governor Ferguson, who received the votes of so many tenant farmers, appears to have forgotten their needs in agreeing to terms with the big insurance companies whereby he will give his support to the Gibson bill to amend the Robertson law. While we do not believe any personal agreement that may be made between the outside insurance companies and the governor will be of any value, because it will be non-enforceable, we confess to some surprise that the governor has so completely ignored the interests of the farmers in stipulating how investments of the insurance companies may be made in the event they return to this state. He has receded from his original demand that they enter into a "binding agreement" to loan ten million dollars a year for five years on farm mortgages at six per cent and is now willing to accept a promise of $5,000,000 a year for five years on farm mortgages and the various kinds of municipal and district bonds at six per cent interest "to the companies."

Municipal bonds have always enjoyed a good market, but farm loans have not. Texas cities find it much easier to borrow money than Texas farmers. Cities and districts will be able to dispose of their bonds whether the Robertson law is amended or remains unchanged. The great need of Texas is cheap money for farmers, to be loaned on terms that will enable them to buy homes.

Waiving for the moment a discussion of the merits of the Robertson law, we suggest to the governor and the legislature that a gentleman's agreement to loan $5,000,000 a year for five years on the terms named by Governor Ferguson will not benefit the farmers of Texas to any appreciable extent. And we further suggest that the governor's consent that loans be made only to the extent of 40 per cent of the value of the property will bar the very class of borrowers who are most in need of credit. Few farmers struggling to buy homes can pay as much as 60 per cent of the purchase price in cash, and the result will be that only large land owners and speculators will obtain any benefit from farm loans made on conditions prescribed by the governor.

The Morning News suggests to our lawmakers, state and national, that they give first consideration to the needs of that large class of farmers now cultivating rented farms and provide for them the credit facilities necessary to enable them to become home owners. The large land owners and speculators are well able to take care of themselves. The man that needs help is the fellow who is saying very little, but is thinking a lot and is keeping close watch on the doings of his public servants.

The town manager plan has proved a success in River Forest, a short distance out of Chicago, according to the year's report of the manager, Karl M. Mitchell. The village is now on a paying basis for the first time in five years. Although the village had a growth of 16 per cent in population and an unavoidable decrease of $1,000 in revenue and gave some additional service, its finances showed a saving of between $4,000 and $5,000, says Mr. Mitchell.

Summarizing benefits of the city manager plan in River Forest, he noted more street lights, better fire service, better policing and garbage removal, a new sewer cleaner and the advantages of economy in introducing improvements and dealing with contractors. While his salary was six per cent of the city's expenditures, Mr. Mitchell estimated that he produced a saving of 16 per cent.

A protest against the passage of a law permitting race track gambling in this state is a legitimate field of action for ministers and laymen alike to occupy and we believe the protest that has been raised within the past few days will be sufficient to block the proposed bill in the lower house of the Texas legislature.

The woman who is telling in one of the leading magazines how to bring a large appetite and a small income together is a "manager." We believe she could make good at satisfying two appetites on one income.

NEWSPAPERS AND THEIR MISSION.

The average newspaper man is intelligent, honest and anxious to give everybody a square deal. Those readers who desire to use the newspapers for their personal aggrandizement and others who try to prevent a paper from doing its duty when to do so might be embarrassing to them, will not concede the truth of this statement, but the declaration holds, nevertheless.

And while some public men have frequently berated the press, it is very gratifying to read in the following statement from Governor Willis of Ohio the declaration that from his experience with newspapers and newspaper men he holds them in high regard and believes they are among the greatest factors for good in this country:

"Newspaper men occupy a peculiarly confidential relation to the people. I think I can speak without any bias, because some of them have been very kind to me, while some have lambasted me tremendously. I feel that the good things the fellows have said about me are so much better than the bad things the other fellows say that they balance up about right."

"I said at a meeting yesterday made up of architects, contractors and builders that you can get a pretty fair estimate of the lives and thoughts of a people by its homes. It can be said in the same way that you can get a pretty fair estimate of a people's ideals by reading their newspapers, and to me it is significant that of all the newspapers published on the earth—60,000 in all—25,000 are published in the United States and Canada. I make no invidious comparisons, but in our country and our sister country on the north one-half of all the newspapers in the world are published and read by the people. It is not necessary to say to you newspaper men that you are the fellows who get to the people. A person may make a speech, but few hear it, but all read the newspapers. The farmers read the daily paper. They have the time, and that is why the fellow out at Podunk knows more about politics than the fellow in the city. They are posted on current events. The newspaper is the means whereby the best thought and ideals of the people are presented."

"Running over a newspaper article, I have run across some figures that are interesting. We have not so many papers in Ohio as in some other states, but they are so much better that what they lack in quantity is made up in quality. Ohio has 1,158 newspapers, New York 2,000 and better, Illinois 1,700, and Pennsylvania 1,300."

"There is another thing my attention was called to in reading that item. Not only are the newspapers the means for dissemination of knowledge in old established communities, but it is the pioneer. The newspaper is the pioneer of civilization. A territory has not commenced to be until the newspaper gets there. When I was in congress and on the Alaskan committee I became very much interested in the subject. Do you know there are about thirty newspapers in that far off Alaska? These newspapers were the most telling arguments that could be brought to bear on the minds of the men in congress in giving to Alaska territorial government; giving them the right to make their own laws and to govern themselves."

"The people of this great state are to be congratulated upon the fact that our newspapers rank with the best. I am extremely glad to be here and congratulate the people of Ohio that we have at the head of the newspapers of this state, in the long run, men undertaking to give the people a square deal and tell them the truth. If I thought that were not so, I would not want to live in Ohio."

A new British writer of fiction is named Oliver Onions. We take it for granted that the old rule that an author must impress his individuality upon his writings in order to sell them must be waived in this instance. An individuality may sell, but it ought not to smell.

That was an enterprising bunch of farmer boys who gathered here Saturday to join the McLennan County Pig Club, and The Morning News hopes every one of the boys makes enough money off his pig to justify him in engaging in the hog business on a larger scale next year.

The brewers and the wine dealers are trying to place the blame for the spread of the prohibition wave on the sins of the saloon. Now what will the brewers say to Comptroller Terrell's declaration that 69 out of the 154 saloons operating in El Paso were doing business through one brewery?

Brewers Levied Special Tax on Beer to Defeat Prohibition Movement in Texas

Late Adolphus Busch, State Alleges, Was Dominant Figure in the Political Fights Which Wet Interests Have Waged in This State—Some Interesting Letters Introduced.

Following up the first installment of the petition in the suit of Attorney General B. F. Looney against the Texas Brewing company and other breweries of this state, in which he seeks to forfeit their charters on the grounds that they have violated the conditions under which the charters were granted and other laws of the state, we are reproducing below some of the correspondence between the representatives of the defendant company and the late Adolphus Busch of St. Louis in which the part which Mr. Busch played in anti-prohibition struggles in this state is partially set forth, according to the allegations of the state: "St. Louis, Mo., March 31, 1903. A year's foot comfort guaranteed or money refunded.

ti-prohibition have not decreased; on the contrary, have been larger in 1906 than heretofore. The expense has naturally lessened our earnings and consequently our dividends.

"There does not seem to be much prospect for discontinuance of this costly movement, although I am constrained to advise a more rigid control of the expenditures and an insistence that at least our contributions be spent in our neighborhood. As it is now, we are continuing to the extent of four per cent on our capital stock, to a movement which is general in its nature, slow in its results and non-apparent, in our trade-territory. Excellent as this campaign of education may be, it is too costly for us to stand indefinitely, in addition to our local expenditures, which, of course we carry along."

In connection with the foregoing plaintiff shows that the capital stock of defendant mentioned in the foregoing was $300,000 and that the expenditures equaling four per cent thereof were made each year as stated in the foregoing, and many other such expenditures were made as is shown in retractor.

By the pleading of the communications set forth above it is not intended to allege that the same are all of such communications made to and acted upon by defendant pursuant to the exercise of the after-trial control, but on the contrary plaintiff states that he has received and voluntarily acted in accordance with similar instructions from said parties continually and frequently since the very date of its incorporation.

NATHANIEL'S STORY IS TAKEN AS TEXT

REV. J. A. WHITEHURST SAYS GREATER VISION SHALL COME TO CHRISTIANS.

SALVATION FOLLOWS DESIRE

Methodist Preaching Elder Preaches a Strong Sermon at Elm Street Church.

Taking his text from the story of Nathaniel's conversion as found in John 1:50, Rev. J. A. Whitehurst, presiding elder of the Waco district, declared that greater vision would continue to come to Christians, in a sermon delivered yesterday morning at the Elm Street Methodist church. His text was in part as follows:

"You will find the scripture that I use as a text this morning in the first chapter of St. John and at the 50th verse and it is that part of the verse that says, 'Thou shalt see greater things than these.' This is the language of our Savior to one that had just come to Him and had accepted Him as the Messiah, the Son of God, and King of Israel. The words of my text as uttered by Jesus assure His new adherents that evidence greater and more positive would be given to them of the Savior's mission. As Jesus spoke to His noted convert Nathaniel had believed with such a common bit of evidence or such an ordinary statement.

"We come now to raise two questions and discuss them for practical purposes and we are hopeful that they will be helpful to those who desire to help others into the Kingdom of Grace and to encourage those who are struggling to live for God's Holy cause.

The first proposition is:

"Why did Nathaniel so readily accept Jesus as the Messiah, as his Savior and Lord?"

"From the context and spirit of the conspicuous character that made this public profession we decide that he really wanted to find and follow the Lord.

Desire Is Necessary.

"We would have you know that when an individual wants to accept Christ as his Savior he has already taken one long step toward becoming a Christian, and we would advise that there is very little use in trying to get any one to become a Christian until they want to and until they want to more than they want anything else. Our first prayer and desire must be to stimulate a desire for Christ as Savior, in other words, those who are to be saved must deeply feel their need of a Savior and anxiously desire to follow Jesus.

"The second reason for Nathaniel so readily accepting Jesus as his Savior was because of the positiveness of the one that came for him and his confidence in that one. We observe that to bring people into the Kingdom of God the personal workers must have a positive testimony and the absolute confidence of the one that he gives after.

"The third reason we find in the divine recognition that Nathaniel received while being directed by Philip to the Master, "Behold an Israelite indeed, in whom there is no guile. So we learn that three things aid a man to readily accept Christ as his divine leader and Lord. The individual's own burning desire, the individual's personal director being unwaveringly sure in his testimony and unquestioned as to his own claims, and the divine assistance to encourage and divine willingness to recognize and receive him.

Will See Greater Things.

"The second proposition that we raise is: Where will we see greater things than we saw at our conversion? While we would not for one minute be disposed to minimize regeneration we would be sorry to think that, however startling one's conversion, that his greatest evidence of Christ's Lord of all had been discovered in his conversion. The flickering light that fell into our raptured souls at the time of our conversion compared to the divine illuminations that we will see should be as the tiny tallow dip that falls on infant eyes as compared to the vision the grown-up individual will have when standing on some lofty mountain and looking over the broad expanse that stretches below and beyond as the mighty splendors of the meridian sun bursts with all his glory and floods the world below.

"Yes, we shall see more in the salvation of others than we saw in our own, if we look through the proper spectacles. The tears of a penitent soul tried by the love of God and salvation of the Holy Spirit will remove mists from our eyes that we may see more of the goodness and mercy of God than we saw at our conversion.

"We shall see more in our own trials than we saw at our conversion if we know how to look. The tears we shed over our dear ones as they leave this world and as we look into the open graves become magnifying glasses to see more of the hope of the glory world than we saw at our conversion.

"We shall see more in the triumphant departure of others. The evidences of the divinity of our Lord Jesus grow stronger and more glorious all the way to the world of glories and by and by when we see Him with the heavens open and the angels of God ascending and descending upon Him, the dream of Jacob will be made real in the divine way to glory through our Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ. May we go on to see more and more of Him."

Children Give Play at Progress Club.

Little Folks were the center of attraction at the Progress club room last night, the kindergarten class of the Rodef Shalom religious school being the entertainers. They staged a clever playlet, "A Mother Goose Reception," after which they danced.

"We shall see more in the triumphal departure of others. The evidences of the divinity of our Lord Jesus grow stronger and more glorious all the way to the world of glories and by and by when we see Him with the heavens open and the angels of God ascending and descending upon Him, the dream of Jacob will be made real in the divine way to glory through our Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ. May we go on to see more and more of Him."

DR. SMITH PREACHES ON "STEWARSHIP"

ELOQUENT TENNESSEAN ADDRESSES UNION MEETING AT FIRST PRESBYTERIAN.

MONEY IS HELD AS A TRUST

Man Owns Property as Compared With Fellow But Really as Steward for the Lord.

Stewardship was discussed last night by Dr. Egbert W. Smith of Nashville, Tenn., one of the most prominent missionary workers of the south, at a union meeting of the three Waco Presbyterian churches, held in the First Presbyterian auditorium.

Dr. Smith recounted the story of the man who brought the penny to Christ and His answer: "Render unto Caesar that which is Caesar's; but unto God that which is God's." His discourse dwelt largely on the theme of whose penny really is, and what should be done with it.

The right of private property is a right granted of God," he said, "and endorsed both by reason and scripture. As between me and another man, my relation is that of ownership. As between God and me my relation is that of stewardship."

That men are not truly owners, but trustees, he declared and that riches were given for the Lord's uses. Even the birds of life are not exempt from this rule of stewardship, he said. He told the story of Langston and said he "showed more of the likeness of his Lord than any man who has lived since Paul."

"But with the increase of the human species, the necessities of life became less plentiful, and man learned the wisdom of thrift. He had to be more careful in the management of his resources, and so he kept the cave that offered protection against the element of nature; he preserved the stick that served as a weapon of defense; he stayed away foot for another son. Thus was conceived the idea of ownership."

He had to be more careful in the management of his resources, and so he kept the cave that offered protection against the element of nature; he preserved the stick that served as a weapon of defense; he stayed away foot for another son. Thus was conceived the idea of ownership."

"Those early days of civilization's infancy may be called the Age of Utility. Everything was priced according to its usefulness. In the exchange of commodities between individuals, the only consideration was which is the most useful? That constituted the one standard of values. The looks of an article was no factor in the transaction."

T. P. & L HEARING SET FOR TODAY BY CITY COMMISSION

A. & M. GLEE CLUB APPEARS TONIGHT AT HIPPODROME

This morning's meeting of the city commissioners promises to be one of unusual importance. Among the matters that will be taken up of interest will be an investigation of the Texas Power & Light company's methods of treating its patrons. W. B. Head, assistant to the president of the company, will appear before the commission and has issued a call to the citizens of Waco asking that all who have complaints to make be present and ask hearing. The commission will meet at 9:30.

At last Monday's meeting T. D. Barnett of Barnett & Graves, whose place of business is at 619 Austin avenue, complained that his lights had been cut off by the company in spite of the fact that he had paid his bills up to date. The Texas Power & Light company was ordered by the commission to re-connect the lights immediately. The order was served on the company by the chief of police in person and the lights were connected.

This and other complaints will be investigated today. Commissioner Littlefield took the position at the last meeting that unless the company changed its method of handling consumers of gas and electricity that suit should be instituted for forfeiture of the company's franchise. City Attorney John Maxwell stated that he had numerous complaints made to him by citizens, and which he believed to have been just. The investigation may lead to drastic ordinances governing the methods of the company.

Another matter that may bring suitable attention will be that of the district nurse. The commission recently passed an ordinance creating the office of district nurse and appropriating $1200 salary for the position. The nurse has not been appointed. The McLennan County Medical society has been behind the proposal and a committee from the commissioners today to urge the immediate employing of a nurse. The matter was allowed to go over until after the election. Mayor Riggins desires it be now settled so the new commissioners take their seats. The physicians are anxious, however, to have the nurse employed and are not inclined to agree to a delay.

Mayor Riggins and Commissioner Caufield were appointed a committee to look into the matter of a municipal band and increasing the appropriation of the city from $1800 to $2400 or more. According to provisions of the city charter the city is allowed to appropriate one-tenth of one per cent of the assessed tax valuations of the city for band purposes. This allows for $3400 to be legally expended for that purpose. A joint committee from the Y. M. C. A., the Chamber of Commerce, the Rotary club, the Ad club, the fire department, the Cotton Palace association and the Central Labor council appeared before the commission at last week's meeting to urge an increased appropriation for the band. Mayor Riggins suggested at last week's meeting the cutting down of the appropriation and applying the amount so deducted to the United Charities. Mayor Riggins and Commissioner Caufield will report on the band proposition today.

May Riggins may bring up the matter of a sewage disposal plant. The city will be forced to make some plans to treat its sewage before turning it into the Brazos, in compliance with a state law which will go into effect February, 1917, compelling cities to cease polluting running streams. With the forming of a lake by the dam below Waco, which is being erected for Brazos navigation, the city will be compelled also by the government to make such an arrangement.

Use Your Business—Don't Store It!

"I am going to use my business—not put it in cold storage."

These words from one of our customers struck us as furnishing a mighty good text for this talk.

Unwise advertising is as bad as no advertising—it keeps your business in cold storage.

Over-advertising is another danger that can be guarded against by following your own best judgment and depending upon judgment based upon long experience.

Under-advertising is still another key to the storage house.

Just enough advertising and just the right kind of advertising may be difficult to have, but it is not hard to get.

Our service is one of confidence. We endeavor to deserve the confidence of our customers. We give them ours.

Our service is planned and executed individually for each customer.

It is based upon his product, the market he must reach, conditions in that market, his selling plans and sales organization. So far as we are able, with the co-operation of our customer, we blend his advertising with his sales efforts. We help him to use his business—not to store it.

Years of experience, a complete knowledge of market conditions, make OUR service peculiarly valuable right now. Let us write your advertising; our fee is nominal and the results phenomenal.

MAJESTIC.

"Mother."

The Adelaide Irving players start in their fifth week of one of the most successful stock engagements Waco has ever had.

And for this occasion the management has selected one of the prettiest plays of human interest that was ever written entitled "Mother."

And the title is enough within itself to insure the fact that it is a great play.

It is just full of everything that the name mother signifies. Love and sympathy. But of course there is no play complete without there is some fun somewhere and this beautiful play, while it tells the story of a mother's great love for her two children, it has enough good wholesome comedy so cleverly blended and just about the time you think you are going to burst forth into tears you are spilted off again.

Miss Irving will be seen in the part of Charlie Rand; Lynn White as Miss Irving will be seen in the part of the Bridges.

The remainder of the company will be seen to advantage, and the Bridges will appear again to the delight of everyone and entertain you with a special between the acts, entitled "Dope."

This is going to be one of the best plays yet produced by this popular company and ladies will be admitted free tonight under usual conditions.

The management has made arrangements with M. Golding to give away a diamond ring every Wednesday and Saturday night.

Go and find out how to get one. You can see them on display in Mr. Golding's show window.

COZY.

The Deep Purple.

Because of the phenomenal success of "The Deep Purple" at the new Cozy theatre the last three days of last week, Besse Dainty will continue this attraction for the first three days of this week. Over two thousand paid admissions came into the box office since last Thursday night, and it is expected that the attendance the first half of this week will exceed any Miss Dainty has had in Waco. The fact that the play was produced here in pictures recently added to the fact that it is being splendidly played at the Cozy accounts for the tremendous demand for seats.

Paul Armstrong and Wilson Mizner, two writers who have put across artistic and dollar-a-cent successes each on his own account, joined hands in writing "The Deep Purple" and their joint effort not only surpasses anything either had done alone but anything anyone else had done in the way of thrilling melodrama within the memory of the oldest inhabitant. The grip of the piece is irresistible. No one can sit through a performance of it without a quickening of the pulse and a tightening of the nerves. It has speed-limit action, intricate, surprising plot, deep dialogue and characters so true to life that they are almost photographic.

The deep purple was a badge of royalty in the days when kings and emperors became such by virtue of fighting ability and sheer gameness, and the play takes its title from the gameness and manhood of one of its principal characters. It is an underworld play which compares police methods with those of criminals. It does not touch on the subject of sex or white slavery, but confines its theme to swindling schemes. It is something not to be slighted if one enjoys great melodrama.

MARKETS

COTTON REVIEW.

New Orleans, La., Feb. 28.—The price of cotton was depressed last week by the situation abroad, shippers constantly fearing that England's threat to declare cotton contraband in what would be put into effect, while, in addition, the constantly increasing hazards to shipping made a bad impression in all quarters of the market. The disposition on the part of professional traders was to sell short and combined with short offerings there was some little liquidation from the long side. Nothing, however, but the supposed oversupply of the market kept prices from making wide declines. The close was at a net loss for the week of $4 to $4 1/2 points.

A steady influence was the reports from the interior that much corn would be planted on cotton lands. Reports from Texas said that planting of corn already was under way in some counties.

The dominating influence this week will be the shipping situation. At the end of last week reports were circulated showing that a large element in the market fully expected England to declare cotton contraband early this week. Such a declaration probably would cause a material fall in prices, although such declines in the near future probably will tempt much covering of short cotton and this realizing will tend to keep the market from displaying pronounced weakness.

The new crop situation will be very closely watched because so much hinges on the acreage.

Bulls predict a return to normal prices if the acreage is held down to about 75 per cent of last year's planting.

COTTON GOODS MARKET.

New York, Feb. 28.—Primary cotton goods markets have been generally quiet. Prices on most lines hold steady, but on some of the wide print cloth yarn goods there has been recessions varying from 1 to 1 1/2¢ a yard. Staple brown domestics are barely steady, while bleached cottons and printed goods hold firm. There is an improved demand for some of the lining fabrics, especially for coat linings. Staple gingham are steady, southern lines now being held generally at 5 cents, against the low point of 4 1/2 last year. Dress gingham under a few brands are being sold steadily, but the general trade in them is not active. Cotton duck continues in steady demand, especially for general commercial purposes continuing generally quiet. Shipments of goods on old orders are full and steady with frequent requests for anticipations of delivery. Prices are as follows:

Print cloths, 28-inch 64x64's, 2 1/2¢; 64x60's, 3 1/2¢; 38 1/2-inch 64x64's, 3 1/2¢; 4¢; brown sheetings, southern stand and six cents; denims, 9-cent; 12¢; ticking, 7 cent, 11 1/2¢; standard prints, 4 1/2¢; staple gingham, 6 1/2¢; dress ginghams, 9 1/2¢.

FINANCIAL REVIEW.

New York, Feb. 28.—Speculative markets continued last week to reflect concern as to the situation facing the United States in the present war. The American government proposals for adjustments of points at issue with both sides and the probable replies were left in the field of speculative conjecture. Serious views of the situation were confirmed by official sources and attributed to official sources and by the tone of Washington birthday addresses.

Interruption to the flood tide of foreign trade was threatened by the refusal of belligerents. The grain and cotton markets responded to this danger in common with securities.

Foreign exchange, however, relaxed to about the lowest. The extra hazard in going shipments figure in this, however, as well as the depreciation of foreign currencies on the basis of inflated war bond issues. Pressure of foreign sales of our securities is thereby increased.

Japan's demands on China and the intimations of a new phase in the American policy towards Mexico added to the weight of international problems.

Good prospects for new financing were unimpaired.

The bond market as a whole was somewhat irregular. Uneven depression in stocks reflected varying effects in different localities owing to trade in war supplies. Figures already at hand give assurance of another month of unprecedented exports.

Arkansas' Home Product.

He gets up at the alarm of a Connecticut clock; buttons his Chicago suspenders to Detroit overalls; washes his face with Cincinnati soap in a Pennsylvania pan; sits down to a Grand Rapids table; eats Chicago meat and Tennessee flour, cooked with Kansas lard on a St. Louis stove; puts a New York bridle on a Kentucky mule, fed with Iowa corn; plows a farm covered by an Ohio mortgage with a Chicago team; when bed time comes he reads a chapter from a Bible printed in Boston, says a prayer written in Jerusalem, crawls under a blanket made in New Jersey, only to be kept awake by an Arkansas dog—the only home product on his place.—Arkansas Democrat.

WE RAISE IN OUR HOME GARDEN NOT ONLY VEGETABLES BUT HEALTH

To quote from the Bush Park Seed Co. Catalogue, "We raise in our gardens not only vegetables and fruits, but we raise the standard of living, health and longer life." There is no tonic for tired nerves like a garden, and to get the most out of it one should do much of the work himself. For men or women there is nothing that will build up the general health like getting back to nature by digging in the soil. The work in the garden may be arduous so it will be light or heavy; it may consist of simple sunning and working on the garden, doing much of it yourself. The more you can do yourself without taxing your strength the better for your health and the better probably for the practical results of the garden.

BEAUTIFUL SERVICE HELD AT ST. PAUL'S

MEN AND BOYS OF PARISH RE-CEIVE ANNUAL CORPORATE COMMUNION.

CEREMONY VERY IMPRESSIVE

Rev. W. P. Witsell Preaches on
"Prayer"—Declares More Praying
Men Are Needed.

Corporate communion, one of the most beautiful services of the Episcopal church, was observed last night for men and boys at St. Paul's. A large class of men and boys took communion. The service is an annual one and last night was particularly impressive.

At the close of the service silent prayer was offered. The rector asked that the congregation pray silently for 1. Those who do not believe in Christ. 2. For those who have not professed Christ. 3. For those who have professed Christ, but have fallen by the wayside. 4. For those who profess and serve that they may be steadfast, faithful and more effective.

5. For the friendless boys and men. 6. For the officers of the church, vestry, brotherhood and choir. 7. For God's ministers, servants of every name and kind. 8. For the members of the congregation, for confessing sins, asking forgiveness. 9. For the peace of the world.

The close of the silent prayer was made more impressive by music by a men's quartet. A solo at the beginning of the service by Miss Fern Thurman was also a beautiful number.

The service of holy communion was observed. On next Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock corporate communion for the women of the church will be observed.

Rev. W. P. Witsell preached on "Prayer." He took his text from Luke 18:1. "And he spake a parable unto them to this end, that men ought always to pray and not to faint."

The preacher divided his sermon into the following sub-heads:

Nature of prayer, basis of prayer and the relation of prayer and service. Prayer, according to the Scripture, should not be mere repetition, he said; yet the Scripture does not say nor mean that repetition is not prayer.

This is proven by Christ in the garden of Gethsemane, when He went alone three times and prayed. Prayer, the preacher declared, is not from the lips, it is labor.

When the superficial things of life are wiped away by some great crisis or national calamity, he said, men realize the necessity for a closer touch with God. Men who have scoffed, or who have given little thought to prayer, are brought to this realization. This has been shown, he said, by the war in Europe. Men on both sides refuse to go into battle without first holding prayer. All men at the front, say telegraph reports, pray.

One of the great handicaps to the furtherance of the church today, he said, is lack of prayer and men who pray.

Printers to Appear Before County Dads on Printing Matter

With Old Crimp taking a hand in the baseball situation without giving fair warning, the outlook for any extensive workout for the Navigators was given up last night by Manager Hardy. Several players are expected today, but two having arrived up to a late hour last night, John Hickey of Waterleit, N. Y., being the first to arrive, followed by J. V. Wright, a recruit catcher from Palestine, Texas, who had come direct from Waco.

"We won't do much tomorrow," said the Big Skipper last night. "I am taking no chances with pneumonia or even slight colds, and a heavy workload for a bunch of men who have been doing little with a sweat in the cold wind is taking chances. We may walk a little and run some, but nothing formal will be attempted."

Hardy probably will lug out the old soccer football if the cold weather continues and the school boy game of "shinny on your own side" will be the order of the week instead of warming up with fungo hitting and catching.

This afternoon the majority of the players, veterans and recruits, are expected. The team is putting up at the New Katy hotel, across the street from Katy park. The dressing rooms at the park have been put in shape.

One great improvement which indicates improved taste on the part of the last year champs is the installation of electric lights in the club house.

CHURCHES OF WACO JOIN IN PROTEST

MORE THAN 3600 PEOPLE RATIFY
RESOLUTIONS AGAINST RACING BILL.

ACTION AT MORNING SERVICE

Instead of Holding Mass Meeting
Each Congregation Passes on Proposition.

More than 3,600 Waco church people yesterday joined in a monster remonstrance to the legislature against the passage of the bill, now before that body, which would legalize gambling on horse races in Texas. The resolutions presented to each congregation were identical to those submitted to every other congregation at the meeting here yesterday.

A meeting of the Pastors' Association was held Friday. It was reported that mass meetings would be held all over the state today to protest against the measure. Various churches had made arrangements that would have interfered with a mass meeting, so it was decided to take the matter up by congregations.

Dr. A. J. Barton, Dr. F. N. Calvin and Rev. John R. Morris were appointed a committee to draft the resolutions. They telephoned to Austin, secured a copy of the bill and met at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon in Dr. Barton's office to draw up the resolution.

They completed their work and had copies prepared by 4:30. Three copies were prepared for each pastor, to be sent to the representatives, the measure having already passed the senate.

Messenger boys carried the resolutions to the various ministers later in the afternoon.

With the resolutions were presented yesterday a petition from congregation was asked to endorse them. The vote was unanimous in every instance. Church officers and leading men in the congregation signed each copy and they were forwarded to Austin yesterday afternoon. Some of the churches also sent a copy to Senator McCollum, although the senate has already acted.

Reports made last night were that the following churches, with the number given present, ratified the resolutions by rising votes: First Baptist, 400; Columbus Street Baptist, 400; Second and James Street Baptist, 400; First Methodist, 300; Central Presbyterian, 300; Central Methodist, 200; Fifth Street Methodist, 150; Elm Street Methodist, 100; Clay Street Methodist, 100; Turner Street Baptist, 75.

The resolution was as follows:

"Resolved, that we, the congregation of the _____ church of Waco, McLennan county, Texas, in mass meeting assembled on this, the 28th day of February, 1915, do hereby protest against the passage of senate bill No. 100, introduced and passed by the senate, the purpose of which is to legalize gambling on horse racing in our state, and we earnestly request our representatives in the house to do all in their power to prevent the passage of the bill, both by their vote and their influence."

Resolved, further, that a copy of this resolution, properly attested, be forwarded by _____ to each of the representatives of our county and district."

On account of numerous other engagements of leading members of the local Baylor Alumni association, the meeting for the discussion of erecting an athletic building on Carroll athletic field has been postponed from Wednesday night of this week to Friday night. The meeting will be called to order Friday night at Baylor chapel by President Carl Lovelace.

All is in readiness to begin the whirlwind campaign for raising funds for the building. The student body is almost unanimous in its approval of the plan. The executive committee of the student government association has already unanimously endorsed the plan.

Among numerous affairs to be pulled off to raise funds for the building is a "Monster Circus and Arggregation of Trained and Otherwise Freaks," which will be held on the athletic field Saturday, March 13. The affair of the circus will be received with enthusiasm by the students of Baylor, it having been an institution in the past. A parade will be formed at the university and will march through the downtown section and the circus will start at 1 o'clock.

On March 17 Dr. S. J. Reed of Dallas, will deliver a lecture on "Irish Wit and Humor" at Carroll chapel for the benefit of the athletic building fund. On May 11 the Baylor band will give a concert, the entire proceeds to go to the fund, and Baylor's symphony orchestra also has agreed to give a concert the date having not yet been arranged.

The plan outlined by the Alumni association and the student government executive committee includes compulsory athletics at Baylor. This will be made possible by the erection of a building including a gymnasium.

A spirited contest has been waged within the local tent between two teams, the Blues and the Reds, who have created great enthusiasm in the meetings for the past several weeks by their competitive efforts to arouse interest in the Temple trip. This activity of the two teams has resulted thus far in signing up of over new members, who will be initiated with a master class from all parts of the state on the last lay of the convention.

State Commander Sawtell and R. M. Sanderson, record keeper of the local tent, and probably others, will go to Temple on Saturday, March 13, to assist the local officers in completing arrangements for the great meeting.

Eighteen holes were played in the morning and eighteen in the afternoon. The partners were Taylor and Burke, who beat Peebles and W. Lorimer, 3 up and 2 to go. The following scores were made:

Peebles ..... 79-158
Taylor ..... 82-162

"The" Style Show and Formal Spring Opening Takes Place on Next Friday and Saturday at the Sanger Store

FESTIVAL OF SPRING FASHIONS THIS WEEK WITH FRIDAY AND SATURDAY THE GALA DAYS

The preparations for the Sanger Spring Opening have been staged upon a more elaborate scale this season than ever before, and when you take into consideration the triumphant achievements of our past efforts you will agree that to surpass those events that have gone before we must necessarily have planned this season's Style Show and Opening along most elaborate lines. We look upon these occasions as do the public, as one of the most important events in connection with the Sanger Store and we leave nothing undone that will in any way tend to enhance the brilliancy and excellence of the occasion.

The Style Show and Formal Spring Opening Friday and Saturday

The Formal Opening at Sanger's means the formal presentation of all that is new and correct in the realm of Fashion and it includes not one or two departments, but each and every department in this greater store, and so complete and thoroughly planned is this event that each section of the store from top to bottom presents a scene that rivals any store opening held in the South.

The Style Show at the Sanger Store is a "Style Show" in fact; staged in such a manner and with such attractions as to entitle it to the name "Style Show." Sanger Brothers were the first in Texas to stage a Style Show, and each year it has grown more and more popular and the crowds of Fashion lovers that have attended it have increased in numbers until it has become the leading feature of the Formal Spring Opening. This year we have arranged to make it a still more distinctive feature. The promenade upon which the living models will appear this year will be located in a section that will allow a much greater seating capacity than ever before and at the same time present a still prettier scenic effect for the presentation of the Gowns, Costumes, Suits, Hats, Skirts, Waists and Dress accessories.

The Window Decorations at the Sanger Store Will Be Worth Traveling Many Miles to See

This one feature of the Sanger Store's Formal Opening and Style Show of this Spring—the Window Displays—will be worth coming many miles to see. For months our decorators have been busily engaged assembling and preparing the decorative features for the windows; the settings before which the pretty new fashions are to be portrayed. We have the longest solid stretch of window space in this country, with but one exception, and with this added advantage the windows will be beautiful. The interior decorations of the store will also rival in beauty anything that has ever before been attempted in this section. All Sanger windows will be uncurtained on Thursday night at eight o'clock.

Those Who Live Outside of the City Should Plan to Be in Attendance on Friday and Saturday During the Living Model Exhibition and the Formal Spring Opening at the Sanger Store. Watch the Papers for Detailed Announcement.

Large Delegation of Waco Maccabees Will Go to Temple

Two Hundred Members of Local Tent
Plan to Attend State Meeting on March 15.

Waco Maccabees, 200 strong, will go to Temple March 15 for the state tent meeting which begins on that date. A special train will leave at 2 p.m. over the Santa Fe.

Great interest is being evidenced in the state meeting of the Maccabees due to the nearness of Waco to the convention city, and also to the fact that Waco has always been the headquarters of the Maccabees work in the state.

The executive committee of the Maccabees will be formed at the university and will march through the downtown section and the circus will start at 1 o'clock.

On March 17 Dr. S. J. Reed of Dallas, will deliver a lecture on "Irish Wit and Humor" at Carroll chapel for the benefit of the athletic building fund.
